Friends of all ages

Brickles site is all yours, positioned on the edge of it's namesake Brickles Wood and a 10 minute walk from anything else you can hang out with your friends and family totally interrupted and explore the Dorset countryside or stay right where you are around the fire or in the living yurt.

There are three sleeping yurts, with beautiful handmade wooden beds, a blanket box and thick rugs. Two yurts have a double, two singles and a further mattress on request. The third has two singles. The final yurt is a stunning living space with a huge seating area and kitchen with a small gas cooker, grill and fridge. Outside is a handmade seating area set around the campfire.

Tucked around the corner you will find your own private loo, hot shower and open air wood-fired bath... a must try!

But don't just take our word for it...
